

YOUR TRIP

Reykjavik

10 Jul – 22 Jul · 13 days · based in Reykjavik

Needs a decision Something you asked for cannot be scheduled as things stand. Your call.

7 stops across 7 of 13 days, about 9 hr 20 min of driving, 15 min on foot to reach them.

Before you go

5 things worth doing while you still can, taken from what the places themselves publish.

Worth a phone call

The plan assumes these and nobody publishes them. Five minutes now saves a wasted morning.

Blue Lagoon — Nobody publishes opening hours for this that we could read. Confirm before the day depends on it.

Pingvellir — Nobody publishes opening hours for this that we could read. Confirm before the day depends on it.

Raufarhólshellir — Nobody publishes opening hours for this that we could read. Confirm before the day depends on it.

Vífilisstaðavatn — Nobody publishes opening hours for this that we could read. Confirm before the day depends on it.

Reykjavik Art Museum Ásmundarsafn — Nobody publishes opening hours for this that we could read. Confirm before the day depends on it.

Getting around

Drive — there is no practical alternative here

ON FOOT TO REACH
THINGS
15 min

ROAD DISTANCE
505 km

Why this way

Planned around a car, with transit and walking where they are better. 6 of your 13 days involve driving.

What it costs you

About 9 hr 19 min at the wheel across the trip, against a limit of 270 min a day.

Parking	Parking is straightforward at everything scheduled here.
Public transport	No scheduled service reaches anything on this plan. The vehicle is not a convenience, it is the access.
Without a car	Without a vehicle, 6 of the 7 stops on this plan become unreachable. What survives is Reykjavik itself and whatever a scheduled service reaches.

Check these before you book

These change year to year. We have not checked today's conditions.

We know a routing engine can reach this, not that it is open to the public on your dates. Check before you go.

Road times are measured. Measured against the road network.

Weather

Mixed evidence

We could not get weather for every day of this trip. The days we could are marked; the rest have not been checked against anything, and we have not guessed.

Taken at 3 separate points across the area. Somewhere that spans a range of elevations or a coastline can differ by several degrees across it, so one number for the whole region would be wrong at both ends.

Weather data by Open-Meteo.com (CC BY 4.0) Conditions change; we have not checked today.

Eating

2 named meals.

Casual most of the time, with the budget saved for the one that is worth it.

Read from 6 venues in this region, mostly off their own pages, on the dates recorded against each one.

Opening hours here change more than anything else we hold — several of these publish an opening time and nothing else — so treat a closing time as ours unless the venue is named as the source. We have not checked today.

Worth reading

- ▲ Nothing we can vouch for was open and near enough to day 1's route, so its meals point at Reykjavik rather than at a place. Which one is yours to pick.
- ▲ Urriðafoss is on day 2 and the weather works against it. Working against it: 53% of days in this period have been wet. This was the best day for it once everything else was fitted in.
- ▲ Nobody publishes hours for Thai Kitchen that we could read, so the hour on day 2 is the meal's rather than theirs. Check before you go, and have a second option in mind.
- ▲ Nobody has confirmed opening hours for Blue Lagoon. Check them before you rely on day 3.
